Research

The Foundation has formed a partnership with the McKnight Brain Institute of University of Florida to conduct research at the Sanctuary. Research will be conducted under the supervision of world-renowned researcher, Dr. Mark Gold. The McKnight Brain Institute is known world-wide for its research into addictions and its impact upon the human brain

“I have learned a great deal about community-based treatment through our collaboration with Stewart-Marchman-

Act. We have found their programs ideally suited for education and training of addiction professionals. We have an infrastructure and history of collaboration that makes research more likely to be successful. UFBI’s research competencies and facilities will make the joint research focused on real problems in our community and successful.” Dr. Mark Gold

Working with Dr. Gold is Dr. Sara Jo Nixon, an international researcher in the drug abuse field who has over twenty years of experience.

Supervising local research is Art Cortes, who heads up research data collection and analysis. He will be supervising numerous doctoral level students that will be conducting research through the university affiliation.

Research = Results
Results = Recovery

History

In 1997, Reverend Hal Marchman and Dr. Ernest Cantley approached James H. “Jim” Foster, retired President of Daytona International Speedway to help organize the Foundation. He rallied community leaders and set a goal to raise $1,000,000. The endowment will be held in perpetuity and only the interest will be used to support the mission of Stewart-Marchman-Act.

We have long since achieved that goal, and our ongoing challenge is to continue to build a stronger "foundation for the Foundation".

A racing-themed dinner and auction has been held every year where a NASCAR driver or other personality is honored. Past honorees include Mark Martin, Richard Petty, Darrel Waltrip, Kevin Harvick, Jimmie Johnson, Hal Marchman, Michael Waltrip, Kyle Petty, Bobby Ginn, Dale Jarrett, Vince Carter and Alan Gustafson.

The Stewart-Marchman-Act Foundation recognizes that substance abuse and mental illness affects everyone and believes that everyone should be a part of the solution.

Vince Carter Sanctuary

The Foundation’s latest project is an $8 million capital campaign to construct the Vince Carter Sanctuary, named after the lead donor, Daytona Beach native, and 8-time NBA All Star.

The Sanctuary will:

- Increase the number of people served by 400-600 annually
- Provide an additional 100 beds for intensive treatment housed in two 50-bed residential buildings
- Provide a community center with the 100-150 seat Bright House Auditorium for classes, speakers, community group meetings (such as AA, NA, and Al-Anon) and a kitchen and Dr. Dave Wesser Dining Room
- House the research and epidemiology center in partnership with the University of Florida’s McKnight Brain Institute
- Be located adjacent to Stewart-Marchman-Act Behavioral Healthcare’s detoxification, outpatient, and aftercare facility
